

A recent University of Florida graduate, Sam engages with students to help facilitate innovative programming amongst Dartmouth College's Jewish community and beyond. She is incredibly eager to connect with Dartmouth students and bring their ideas to life! Are there any initiatives you've been wanting to start and don't know where to begin? If you would like to meet over coffee with Sam (on us!), please don't hesitate to contact her.

Beyond her work, Sam treasures her spare time by reading and writing fantasy novels, consuming stand-up comedy specials, and listening to obscure Dungeons and Dragons podcasts.
